Father Richard writes....

We are living in a strange world of growing fear and anticipation as the Covid-19 infection spreads. No-one is now in doubt that many people will become ill with this virus. For many, especially the young it will mostly be an uncomfortable inconvenience. But for others, especially the elderly and those who are already unwell in other ways, it will be very serious indeed. We feel strangely connected with the biblical world of plagues. Today's reading, about the woman at the well, is a picture of abundant grace, and we all stand in need of that at times like this.

We have taken further steps to try to keep safe around church, on the advice of the Church of England and of the government's Medical Adviser. We are now not sharing the cup in the Eucharist. The priest will offer you, after cleansing her or himself, just the bread into your hand. Wine will be blessed, but consumed only by the President. For many this will be a considerable sacrifice, but the bishops have stressed that the church believes that receiving either the bread or the wine alone is full communion. Similarly we are now asking all people to refrain from any hand contact at the peace. The collection plate will not be handed around, so please place your gift in the plate before going to your place at the beginning of the service. Afterwards, we have debated about whether to provide refreshments at all, but have agreed for this week at least to offer tea or coffee in disposable cups. Those serving have taken precautions with washing and gloves. Could you please avoid touching milk jugs or other cups yourself.

Like all organisations and businesses we have begun, as requested by the Church of England, to draw up a Recovery Plan – a plan for what happens when the situation becomes worse, or when key people become ill. I am confident we will have to take even more drastic measures over the coming weeks – maybe days. If we are asked or required to stop all gathering for worship, we will do our best to support you. We will try to get a newsletter and other information to you at home, even if you are self isolating. Please let us know if you are ill, and we will pray for you, and our pastoral care team will be in touch by telephone. Our ministry team will be around to fetch and support. We may try to stream or provide video of specific worship, teaching and especially prayer in our church that you can watch on your computer or phone and feel part of the continuing worship of All Saints. Who knows how deep this will bite or for how long it may continue.

Be strong, stay well, don't be afraid, pray for yourselves and for others, support each other and those around who are alone or in need by contact and action that helps them but keeps you safe. We will keep everything going that we can. God bless.

Fr Richard

All Saints Bells... news from the Tower Captain

If you walked past the church on the morning of Saturday 7th, you may have heard some strange noises? A low resonance, a sort of hum? DONT PANIC!! The tower is not being haunted and the jackdaws are not having a strange gathering in the eaves. What you can hear are the bells being rung (really!) but in a rather different sort of way. The tower is now home to a brand new ringing centre and the bells are 'muffled' so we can practice without disturbing the village! The new centre has been named 'The Margaret Parker Ringing Centre, Lincoln' in honour of our very long term previous Tower Captain, who was awarded the MBE for services to ringing and taught many, many people how to handle a bell. She was also made an Honorary Member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and moved to Durham a couple of years ago. She is very well, happy and settled and still ringing.

In recent years, technology has been developed which allows the bells to be rung 'normally' but the sound is made by a computer programme. This means that we can practice methods (tunes) and concepts without worrying what it sounds like outside if it all goes wrong! The clappers in the bells are 'wrapped' in a rubber muffle (actually a bit of old motorbike tyre), so you hear a slight, haunting 'bong' sound only if you are standing in the churchyard.

There has been a ringing centre at Wragby for some time, but the technology there was getting tired, the ringing room is very small and the bells are difficult to access to silence (it's also a bit of a way out of town!) So the decision was made to move the facility to Nettleham and re-launch it with the full support of the Association of Ringing Teachers (ART), The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers (CCCBR) and the Lincoln Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers (LDGCBR). This will hopefully attract not only the local ringers and those in the immediate vicinity of Lincoln, but also those in the wider Guild and specific, bespoke courses run by ART and the CCCBR. It's not about making money, any donations/fees for the use of the facility will, initially at least, be put back into the project to improve and enhance the facilities; the aim is to improve and teach those already ringing and to teach and educate those who may be interested in taking it up as a 'new' pastime (it's definitely different!)

The facilities so far include a computer and the specialist software to run it all, a wireless system of transmitters and receivers from the bells (using a light beam and reflective strip), a large TV with web cam on the bells and DVD for training films, We also have a digital projector and screen that allow us to use a facility on the computer known as 'virtual belfry' this puts the learner into the ringing with 5 'avatars' who 'ring' around them and teaches them how to hear their bell and ring it in the right place. We also have a library of books, DVDs and ringing music to 'borrow' and watch/read/learn at home and a new carpet, ropes, paintwork and improved seating. The facility has been funded by the existing tower funds, a grant from the Guild and very generous donations of a lot of the kit (the TV, the projector and screen, the computer and the soft furnishings and new rug!) The bells themselves have received a full service (whilst the repair work was being undertaken on the tower); the clappers have been refurbished with new bushes and bearings and 2 of the bell wheels have been replaced.

We will be running sessions with qualified ART tutors on the first and third Saturday of the month between 10 and 12. Light refreshments will be available and you are more than welcome to just come along and have a look or even have a go?! If you would like any further information, please contact the Tower Captain, Claire Holbrook on 07917 151060 or email claire.holbrook79@gmail.com. In the very near future, we will also have our own web site and I will post the link as soon as I can.

We look forward to welcoming you soon.

House groups

Many of our congregation have been asking when they may be able to become part of a house group and I am pleased to announce that new house groups will be starting up after Easter. The format and styles of each house group will be different from our previous meetings but the overall purpose remains the same:-

Developing and deepening our discipleship and become better followers of Christ

The prayer for the week, by St Richard of Chichester 1197-1253, acknowledges that as Christians we don't become saints overnight! Instead there is a gradual, day by day, re-orientation of our lives into God's way. Being in fellowship in a house group enables us to encourage and support each other so that we may grow strong in our Christian faith and be a witness to others, wherever we are along our journey of faith. This can be through:-

- Bible study
- Prayer and worship
- Mutual support and ministry
- Theological reflection on events and decisions in life

The emphasis of the above can vary and each group will have its own style and may look at things in different ways, but all will give you a warm and caring welcome.

Next steps – If you would like to be involved in a house group please add your name to the list or contact me (Sandy) directly. If you would like to host or lead a group please let me know and be assured that training and continuous support will be provided to all group leaders.

Many Blessings, Sandy

Cathedral News....

Dean Return

The following is a joint statement from the Acting Bishop of Lincoln and the Dean of Lincoln

A complaint under the Clergy Discipline Measure against the Dean of Lincoln, the Very Revd Christine Wilson, made by the national director of safeguarding, regarding how a safeguarding allegation was reported, has been determined by the Bishop of Sheffield.

The majority of the complaint has been upheld and it was determined to be out of character and unlikely to be repeated. The dean has completed further safeguarding training and is now returning to ministry in the Cathedral and the Diocese.

Dean Christine Wilson says she has learnt important lessons in responding well to survivors and understands the importance of making apologies when the church gets things wrong. She is looking forward to resuming ministry in the Cathedral, serving the city and the county.

Visitation

The Acting Bishop of Lincoln, the Right Reverend Dr David Court is aware of a range of issues that have been raised with him that are connected to the life of the Cathedral. Therefore, he is planning to initiate a Bishop's Visitation and will issue a fuller statement on this within the next week.
